OUTRAGES BY NIGHT RIDERS.
TRENTON, Tenn., March 13.—Night riders last night made a raid in Gibson county. They visited a negro tenant and fired several shots into his house, barely missing the sleeping inmates.

JESSUP SURPRISES MINING INVESTOR

Stuart Armour, the mining investment man of San Francisco, has been at the Lakehurst mine, White Plains, for several weeks. Writing to the Reno Journal from White Plains, with regard to Jessup, he says:

"I was agreeably surprised to find that the new camp, Jessup, discovered by Murray and Jessup of Reno, three miles from our copper mine, is going to prove a close rival to Rawhide. The gold belt so far proves to be five miles long and over a mile wide, and is almost all high grade, the values lying mostly in an iron quartz porphyry. I was extremely skeptical at first, for I thought too much was claimed for the camp, but I now see matters have been understated.

"Yesterday we received some assays from San Francisco from a claim owned by George B. Bird and myself, called the Dog Star, on a thirty-foot ledge, which averaged over $55 in gold. On a twelve-foot ledge on the other side of the belt a mile away, on the White Cap, we got an average of $93. It is this way all over the camp, judging from the pinnings I have seen.

"It surely looks as though this belt would surpass the famous Rand in South Africa, with the advantage with Jessup, as the rock is high grade. This camp is only six or seven miles from the main line of the Southern Pacific and closer to plenty of water."

NEW STRIKE IN THE SHOSHONE

High grade ore was encountered last night in the drift being run from the 600-foot level at the Shoshone.

And what's more there is four feet of it, all of which is being sacked. The ledge was opened several days ago, but up to the present time nothing sensational had been found.

The ore is a white quartz and runs into the thousands. It proves beyond question that the Shoshone ore bodies get better with depth, and it is putting it mildly to say the management is elated over the find. The shaft will be sunk an additional 100 feet at once.—Rhyolite Bulletin.

after his marriage, Mr. Harris heard his wife say one day that she would like to have a piano, and that not having the ready cash, Harris went to the mine and in half an hour dug out enough gold to purchase her a $1000 instrument.
